NOTES OF INTEREST
FROM A. & M. COLLEGE

Handbook on Poultry by an Expert Soon Be Ready for Distribution.

Demands for judges for live stock at county fairs have been unusually heavy at A. and M. College this year. Where the extension service is unable to send men from its staff, senior students in animal husbandry are sent to represent the college. Many letters complimenting the students for the work they have done in these live stock shows have been received. Judges for these shows are provided for expenses only.

Work on New Buildings.

Work on the new $50,000 hospital for cadets and the $10,000 dairy barn at the A. and M. College will begin within a few days. The contract for the construction of the hospital was let to the Hedrick Construction Company of Dallas, while Dupuy & Ranney of San Antonio were the successful contenders for the dairy barn construction.

Both of the buildings will be of hollow, interlocking tile construction and will be fireproof.

A graduate surgeon and two graduate nurses comprise the hospital staff at A. and M.

Poultry Handbook.

What poultry specialists at the A. and M. College term the most complete handbook on poultry ever published in the South will be ready for distribution by the extension service at A. and M. within the next few days. The handbook is composed of a series of addresses by James E. Rice, professor of poultry husbandry, at Cornell University, and which were delivered at the college recently. These lectures deal with every problem known to the poultry business and fit Texas conditions admirably.

Dr. Rice's lectures were delivered after a study of Texas conditions had been made. He has since revised the discussions, making them of a more practical nature. Breeding, feeding, poultry management, diseases, egg production, slaughtering, marketing, poultry houses; all of these phases of the poultry business are considered by Dr. Rice.

The bulletin may be had by application to the director of extension, College Station, Tex.

Celebrate Arbor Day.

Plans for the celebration of Arbor Day are being made at the A. and M. College. Feb. 22 will be a day of tree planting at the college, and the extension service is planning to enlist the teachers and school children of Texas in a tree planting celebration on that day.

PROMINENT BRYAN CITIZENS
SEE "PRINCE OF PILSEN" AND RECOMMEND ATTRACTION.

Professor Herbert W. Reed, while on a recent visit to San Antonio, witnessed the presentation of "The Prince of Pilsen" and was very much pleased with the production. He says that the chorus work is fine, and that a number of the principals in the cast have good voices.

Judge J. W. Doremus saw the big show while on a business trip to Houston last week and reports that it is one of the best, very laughable, and that the musical numbers and the rendition of same are far above the general run of musical shows.

R. H. Waller, a well-known local cotton man, says he had the pleasure of seeing "The Prince of Pilsen" while spending the holidays at his home in Fort Worth, and that it is one of the best companies that has ever come to Texas.
